It is understood that employees of FST will become aware of confidential information regarding our clients through the course of their employment. Employees, students and volunteers agree that if confidential information is not effectively protected, the operations of FST may be threatened, and the well-being and privacy of our clients may suffer irreparably.

Procedures

1. Obtaining Consent for the collection, use and disclosure of personal information

- 1.1 As FST services often involve collaboration and consultation among employees, FST employees will discuss the following with new clients:
  - the nature and extent of consultation and collaboration in the FST program or service which the new client is accessing
  - the personal information that FST may collect
  - the purposes for which FST collects, uses and shares personal information, as listed above.
- 1.2 Client's rights and responsibilities including rights related to keeping client's personal information private will be reviewed with all new clients at their first appointment following intake.
- 1.3 Clients will be asked to sign a form indicating that the organization's privacy policies have been discussed and that the client consents to the collection, use and sharing of personal information for the purposes listed in this policy.
- 1.4 The signed forms will be scanned and the original copy consent will be destroyed. A note will be made in the client's record that the form has been signed.
- 1.5 In cases where it is not possible or practical to obtain the client's written acknowledgment (e.g., telephone only service), verbal acknowledgment that the organization's privacy practices have been explained to, and accepted by, the client will be recorded in an activity note in the client's record.
- 1.6 Consent will be that of the individual and must be knowledgeable, relate to the personal information and not be obtained through deception or coercion. A consent to the collection, use or sharing of personal health information about an individual is knowledgeable if it is reasonable in the circumstances to believe that the individual knows, (a) the purposes of the collection, use and/or disclosure, as the case may be; and (b) that the individual may give or withhold consent.
- 1.7 In the event that employees are concerned that a client does not have the capacity to consent to the collection, use and disclosure of his or her personal information, employees should refer to the Addressing Concerns About Client Capacity policy and document concerns within the client file.

2. Client Withholding, Limiting or Withdrawing Consent

- 2.1 Clients are informed of their responsibility to provide relevant information as a basis for receiving services and participating in service decisions.
- 2.2 Clients have the right to stipulate who will have access to their personal information. This means that they can withhold, limit or withdraw their consent to the collection, use or disclosure of personal information. The request may cover all or a specific part of a client's record. When this happens, staff will implement the following "lock-box" procedure.

Electronic records: The FST employee receiving the client's request to withhold, limit or withdraw their consent will:

- Record the verbal instructions by the client in an activity note in the client's electronic record.
- Scan any written instructions by the client into the client's electronic record.
- Activate the alert button on the person/client page for the client in the FST electronic database, thus notifying employees accessing the file of the withholding, limiting or withdrawal of consent.
- Notify the Information Technology (IT) Department of the client's instructions and the IT Department will limit access to the electronic record in compliance with the client's request (e.g., closing access to the record; limiting access to the individuals specified by the client to be allowed access).

Paper records: If the client also has a paper file:

- The client's file (either in whole or in part depending on the client's instructions) to which access is to be limited will be placed inside an envelope that will be sealed with the instructions from the client stapled to the outside of the file.
  - If the client's request is to withdraw consent, the file will be safeguarded by FST's Privacy Officer.
  - If the client's request is to withhold or limit consent, the supervisor responsible for the program will determine how best to comply with the client's request.
- 2.4 In cases where the withholding, limiting or withdrawal of consent will limit or prevent FST from continuing to deliver services, employees will discuss with the client the consequences of their withholding, limiting or withdrawal of consent.

3. Higher Levels of Confidentiality (Use of Aliases)

- 3.1 FST serves clients periodically that require a higher level of confidentiality. For example: public figures; staff of a FST funder; former staff, students and volunteers, who may not wish it to be known that they are accessing FST services.
- 3.2 In such situations, programs will provide clients an opportunity to select and use an alias. The alias will be used in the client record and in the client's interactions with FST.

- 3.3 A list of the aliases, clients' real names and file numbers will be confidentiality maintained outside of the client database by the FST Privacy Officer.
- 3.4 A higher level of confidentiality designation does not invalidate the normal legal limits to confidentiality, which includes subpoenas, search warrants and the right of government funders to audit client records. Clients must be informed of these limitations on confidentiality.
- 3.5 The Human Resources Department will provide names of new staff members, volunteers and students to the FST Privacy Officer so that a check of the client database can be completed. If the individual has received service from FST in past, an alias will be assigned to the record in order to maintain the privacy of the new staff member, volunteer or student.

4. Disclosure without Consent Including Responding to Summons/ Subpoenas/Court Orders and Requests from Police

- 4.1 FST will not disclose the personal information of clients without their consent, except where:
- It is believed the client or someone else is in imminent danger of serious physical harm (see Duty to Warn policy)
  - A child under the age of 16 is at risk of or has been abused or neglected (see Child Abuse Reporting and Documentation policy)
  - FST is subpoenaed or is otherwise served with a court order, summons, warrant or a similar requirement issued by a person who has jurisdiction to compel the production of information in a proceeding (such as a proceeding held in, before or under the rules of a court, a tribunal, a commission, a justice of the peace, a coroner, a committee of a College within the meaning of the Regulated Health Professions Act, 1991, a committee of the Ontario College of Social Workers and Social Service Workers under the Social Work and Social Service Work Act, 1998 or an arbitrator) or
  - It is otherwise permitted or required by law.
- 4.2 If a FST employee, student or volunteer is served with a warrant, summons, subpoena, order or similar requirement issued in a proceeding, the individual must immediately notify their supervisor, who will provide advice and direction as to how to respond. Dependent on the situation, FST may choose to seek legal counsel. This decision will be made by the supervisor of the program in consultation with the staff person and the Director of the program area. The Executive Director will be included in this consultation process and if a decision is made to seek legal counsel, the Executive Director will facilitate access to FST's legal counsel. FST employees, students or volunteers should follow the same procedure in response to requests by police officers for client information.
- 4.3 In general, where an order, summons, warrant, subpoena or other requirement to produce documents has been served on FST, FST will:
- make every attempt to respond in a way that is respectful of the order or other requirement, while at the same time taking steps to preserve the client's right to confidentiality
  - make an exact copy of the file to remain at FST and

- deliver the documents to the court or other proceeding in a sealed enveloped marked “private and confidential”.

4.4 Where FST discloses personal information without the client’s consent, the client will be notified of such disclosure as soon as reasonable, practical, safe and/or legally possible in the circumstances.

5. Release of Information to Third Parties with Client Consent

5.1 Subject to Section 4, personal information, whether all or part of a client record, will not be released to third parties without the written consent of the client or the client’s substitute decision maker, where applicable. Clients are required to complete the FST Consent for the Release of Information Form or the Consent for the Exchange of Information Form, depending on the nature of the request. Consents provided on these forms are valid for 90 days from when authorization is given if it is for a one time release of information or one year when a contracted or cooperating service provider requires the release of information for ongoing service provision, unless otherwise limited or withdrawn by the client in advance of that date. FST may disclose a client’s personal information, provided that the disclosure, to the best of FST’s knowledge, is for a lawful purpose.

5.2 Reports from third parties contained in a client record may not be released without the written consent of the third party. Clients will be encouraged to pursue access to this information directly with the third party.

5.3 In exceptional circumstances, where written consent is not possible, the oral consent of the client to the release of personal information will be accepted and will be recorded in the client’s file.

5.4 In response to requests to release information to third parties, the FST service provider will determine if the reason to release information is valid, ensure that the client understands the purpose for which the information is being released and to whom the information is being released. The FST service provider will also explain that FST cannot guarantee the confidentiality of the information once it has been released.

6. Safeguarding of Personal Information

6.1 Client information stored electronically is protected by password. Access to the FST electronic database is limited on a need to know basis for added security.

6.2 Client information collected in hard copy form is stored in locked cabinets accessible only by the counsellors or other FST employees, students and volunteers providing service to the client, and the relevant program managers.

6.3 Access to client information will be limited to those who need to know the information for the purposes set out in the client’s consent or as otherwise permitted or required by law.

6.4 FST employees will never leave client personal information, in paper or electronic form, unattended or exposed to anyone other than the client.

6.5 FST will not send confidential personal information to clients by email without the client’s prior consent. Personal information sent to clients or about clients will employ secure email (Note that secure email ensures messages are encrypted). If clients state they do not wish to receive emails in a secure method FST staff inform clients that FST does not accept responsibility for communications sent in a non-secure way. This is documented in the client's file.

- 6.6 Client information transmitted via email to third parties shall be sent in an encrypted format.
- 6.7 Communication between staff within the familyservicetoronto.org domain is secure in transmission. Client numbers and/or initials will be employed as a means of communication and all emails are marked confidential within the subject line.
- 6.8 Web-based counselling will use an encrypted website to protect client privacy and confidentiality.
- 6.9 In programs where funders require specific levels of security, documents will be clearly labelled as required by funders (for example, Protected A and Protected B for CIC funding).
- 6.10 FST requires external agents, such as third party auditors, to maintain the confidentiality of client information and to refrain from using client information for any purpose other than the purposes for which consent was provided by the client. Where appropriate and necessary, FST will obtain the consent of the client to disclosure of information to external agents. (External agents are persons or companies with which FST has contracts and that may come into contact with personal information.)
- 6.11 When disposal is permitted or required, records of client personal information will be disposed of in a secure manner such that reconstruction of the records is not reasonably foreseeable in the circumstances.

7. Notice to Clients of Theft, Loss, Unauthorized Access, Use or Disclosure of Client Information

- 7.1 Employees are required to report to their supervisor and to the FST Privacy Officer (the Director of Changing Lives and Family Violence), any theft, loss, unauthorized access, use or disclosure of personal information of FST clients immediately upon becoming aware of this either verbally or via email. This communication will be followed up by completion of the Client Privacy and Confidentiality Incident Management Form within 24 hours of the initial report being made. In programs where funders require it, supervisors will file a serious occurrence report in this situation.
- 7.2 In the event of such theft, loss, unauthorized access, use or disclosure of personal information of a FST client, FST will immediately launch an investigation into the breach and notify the client as soon as possible.
- 7.3 Oral contact with the clients will be logged in the client record and will be followed up by a letter, which will be included in the client record.
- 7.4 In the case of former clients, contact will be made orally, if possible, and also in writing, at the last known address for the client recorded in FST's database.
- 7.5 The Chief Privacy Officer maintains a centralized registry of incidents and reports on these, in a non-identifying way, on a quarterly basis to the Board.

8. Client Access to and Correction of Personal Information

- 8.1 Clients wishing to review their records should contact the FST service provider, relevant program manager or Privacy Officer.

- 8.2 Within 30 days of any such request, an appointment will be made for the client to review his/her personal information in a confidential manner on FST premises, in the presence of a FST employee, unless FST is entitled to refuse the request, in which case written notice will be given. Up to 60 days may be required in the case of complex searches for records. Clients may bring a support person to this appointment if they wish. Clients will show a copy of picture identification to verify their identity. In exceptional circumstances (e.g., a client is unable to come to the FST office due to health issues), a copy of the record may be sent by registered mail to the individual with consent and verification of their identity. Where indicated, safety precautions related to the receipt of the file will be reviewed with the client and documented in the record prior to its release.
- 8.3 FST is required to retain client personal information that is the subject of a request for access for as long as necessary to allow the client to exhaust any recourse under the Personal Health Information Protection Act, 2004 that he or she may have with respect to the request. This may require FST to maintain the record for longer than the typical client record retention period detailed in the Record Retention policy.
- 8.4 Clients who wish an explanation of their records may contact their FST service provider, the relevant supervisor or the FST Privacy Officer.
- 8.5 Clients will not be permitted to access third party records without the consent of the third party. In such cases, the FST service provider will direct the client to obtain the requested information directly from the third party.
- 8.6 Clients wishing to correct information in their file shall provide the correction in writing to FST. The written correction will be included in the client's record and, within three weeks of receipt, FST will notify the client of its response to the correction.
- 8.7 In instances where clients request a copy of their record, they will be required to sign a form acknowledging that FST retains no responsibility for the record once it is released.

9. Appointment of Privacy Officer

- 9.1 The Privacy Officer for FST is the Director of Changing Lives and Family Violence. The Privacy Officer is responsible for all client-related inquiries and complaints.
- 9.2 The name and contact information for the Privacy Officer is available on the FST website, in the Client Rights Statement and in the FST Employees Directory.
- 9.3 The duties of the Privacy Officer include:

- 10.2 The Privacy Officer will follow the procedures set out in the Service User and Community Member Complaints policy in responding to, resolving and recording privacy-related complaints.
- 10.3 If the client is not satisfied with the response provided by the Privacy Officer, the client may contact the Office of the Information and Privacy Commissioner of Ontario, in writing, at 2 Bloor Street East, Toronto, Ontario, M4W 1A8 or by calling 416-326-3333.

11. Confidentiality and Privacy Agreement

- 11.1 All FST personnel (employees, students and volunteers) will sign a Confidentiality and Privacy Agreement as part of their initial hiring or orientation. The signed Agreement will be placed in the employee, student or volunteer file. Personnel will not have access to any confidential information until after they have signed the Agreement (e.g., will not provide service to clients, access client or personnel records).
- 11.2 Any breach of confidentiality whether real or suspected should be reported as follows:
- if related to clients and donors, the breach should be reported to the relevant supervisor who will involve the FST Privacy Officer
  - if related to personnel, the breach should be reported to the relevant supervisor who will involve the Director of Human Resources
  - if related to financial matters, the breach should be reported to the relevant supervisor who will involve the Director of Finance.

Consent for recording, photographing and/or filming

Employees, volunteers, students as well as all clients and members of the public will be asked to provide their informed and/or written consent prior to any recording, photographing or filming that may be used for promotional, educational or training purposes by the organization. Requests for participation in media-conducted interviews or other activities for publication in print, online and/or for broadcasting purposes will be co-ordinated through the Marketing and Communications department with specific waivers provided by the media organization.

FST property

Upon termination of employment with FST, employees shall promptly return (without duplicating or summarizing), any and all material pertaining to FST business in their possession including, but not limited to: all client information (charts, lists, etc.), physical property, documents, keys, electronic information storage media, manuals, letters, notes and reports.
